Reasons to Go Greek!

UE GREEK LIFE is founded on five pillars that shape our community. These pillars help us strive for excellence in our everyday lives as well as gain a well-rounded college experience. We invite you to become part of the tradition and explore your potential as a member of the Greek Life community.

Scholarship

Greek letter organizations were founded on the principle of successful scholarship. The Greek system at the University of Evansville continues this tradition. Through study tables, tutoring, and other programs established by each chapter, Greeks help their members succeed academically. All sororities and fraternities have specific grade requirements for joining, as well as for remaining in good standing. The all Greek GPA for Fall 2020 was 3.14 and the all student GPA was 3.08.

Leadership

Membership in a Greek organization is a great way to discover and refine your leadership potential. Within each chapter there are numerous opportunities to assume a variety of leadership roles. Members share important responsibilities in operating the chapter. However, leadership is not limited to the chapter; there are many Greeks who play an active role in other campus organizations. Sororities and fraternities encourage their members to get involved in other facets of college life that build leadership skills. About 63 percent of UE Greeks are active in other campus organizations. Greeks are involved and hold offices in almost every major campus organization, including the Student Government Association, Orientation Leaders, Admission Ambassadors, Student Activities Board, Crescent Magazine, LinC, hall councils, and resident assistants.

Philanthropy

The University of Evansville Greek community supports a strong tradition of service to our campus and the area. This past year, the Greek community raised more than $40,600 in charitable gifts and contributions and reported over 6,000 hours of service to various causes. Each sorority and fraternity focuses on its national philanthropy, but they also donate services to a number of local agencies. Because of the strength in numbers and organizational qualities found in our Greek community, members achieve great success in aiding the community.

Lifelong Sisterhood and Brotherhood

Sisterhood and brotherhood are terms that mean more than wearing Greek letters, attending meetings, and going to parties. It means that you have found a place you can call your home away from home. Ritual, scholarship, giving yourself to the community, and the feeling of belonging create lifelong bonds of sisterhood or brotherhood.

Sisterhood and brotherhood mean joining a group of women or men in love and friendship.

Social Interaction

The University of Evansville Greek system provides a diverse selection of events to expose members to a wide variety of social programs. Formals, Musical Madness, Greek Week, Homecoming, intramural sports, and mixers all support the goal of bringing together fraternity and sorority members to develop the bonds of friendship. Development of values, traditions, and honor contribute to the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Council commitment to social programs that enable personal development. All Greeks maintain a responsible social policy promoting the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Council standards for careful planning of safe social activities. The cost for many social events is covered through membership dues. All social events are optional, and the chapters understand that academic commitments come first.

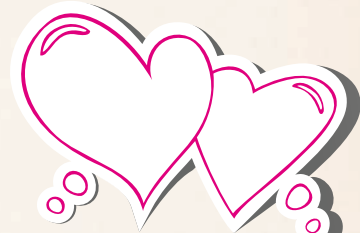

Dana Clayton, EdD

Vice President of Student Affairs and Dean of Students

"The University of Evansville Greek system is one of the best in the country. Outstanding scholarship, remarkable service, vitality, and friendship are the foundational pieces that make our program exceptional. The students who belong to our fraternities and sororities are some of the highest-profile leaders on campus, both in and out of the classroom."

Sisterhood

As you go through recruitment, you will notice that no two sororities are alike. Each chapter has its own sense of individuality, and there is a common bond among the members of each chapter that is also unique and private. When you associate yourself with a sorority, you are not just meeting new friends; you are becoming a part of a sister-hood. You will enjoy the benefits of friendships that will last a lifetime. Sisterhood is bonding together while striving for similar goals. Being a part of a sorority is something that cannot be compared to anything else. You are among women who share the same values you have. To know of its existence is one thing, but to experience it is another.

Be a part of a great segment of university life –
be a part of the UE Greek Community!

History and Tradition

Panhellenic Association

Panhellenic in Greek literally means "all Greek." The Panhellenic council at the University of Evansville serves to represent all four of our National Panhellenic Council (NPC) sororities and our one local sorority, and also acts as their governing body. The National Panhellenic Council serves to provide support and guidance for its sororities and serves as the national voice on contemporary concerns of sorority life. At the University of Evansville, our Panhellenic council is made up of a group of five delegates representing each sorority on campus and five executive members. We strive to provide all-Greek social, philanthropic, and scholastic programming throughout the campus Greek community.

Brooke Lasher
President

"Before coming to college, I never thought that I would be a part of Greek Life. Once I stepped on UE's campus, my view completely changed. I decided to go through recruitment to find a group a women to support and push me to be my best while in college. I found this and so much more. Throughout my journey in AOII, I have gained friendships that will last a lifetime, become confident in myself and my leadership abilities, and was even encouraged by my sisters to become the president. Holding this position was something I never saw myself doing even after joining Greek Life. But because of my sisters and their support, I was able to take on this position and I couldn't be happier. Without Greek Life and AOII, I would not be the woman that I am today. I am extremely thankful for these organizations and the opportunities they have given me throughout my college career."

"Going Greek was the best choice I made after deciding to attend UE. Through my membership of Alpha Omicron Pi and the Greek community, I have made some of the best memories of my college experience. Being Greek helps me connect with students that I would not have known otherwise, allows me to get involved and get out of my comfort zone with campus events, and it gives me countless opportunities to give back to Evansville.

The first time I went through recruitment as a member of AOII, I was inspired to get involved with my sorority more than ever before. Through the recruitment process, I was able to get to know sisters I had not previously been close to, connect with our ritual on a deeper level, and find a new appreciation for everything AOII has done for me, as well as everything I can give to AOII in return. Since then, I have served as assistant VP of recruitment, sisterhood round chair, and now vice president of recruitment. It brings me so much joy to welcome potential new members into our suite and helping them find their home. The recruitment process is such an exciting time for women who choose to go through, and it is an honor to lead my chapter in finding the next class of women to carry on the values of Alpha Omicron Pi.."

"Greek Life at UE provides countless opportunities to its members to contribute to our campus by promoting inclusivity and unity among its chapters. Joining Chi Omega has given me a place to belong and truly be myself, while being surrounded with women of strong values to learn from. Being a member of an organization that promotes campus and community involvement, service to others, and academic excellence has helped shape me into the best version of myself. I cannot imagine my college experience without the support and guidance of my sisters in Chi Omega. I find comfort in knowing the valuable connections and sincere friendships I have formed will go far beyond my four years on campus, and I have UE Greek Life to thank for that."

"I am beyond grateful to have a support system like Chi Omega. My sisters motivate me to strive for goals that are ambitious. They instill in me a sense of courage that I never knew I had. Becoming a member of Chi Omega has given me the support and encouragement that I needed to grow into the woman I am today. And for that, I am ever grateful. I am surrounded by women who are inspirational role models that set an example for us all. Every sister is unique in their own way. We all bring our strengths and weaknesses to the table. We love each other for our differences. Unity is our strength. This powerful group of women stands in unity, poise, and friendship. I am so proud and honored to be a member of Chi Omega for a lifetime."

"Greek life at UE has blessed me with so much more than a group of friends. It has given me a group of sisters who provide endless support and encouragement, who push me to grow, and who make UE feel like home. It has given me countless leadership and community service opportunities as well as an academic support system. Without Zeta Tau Alpha, I would not be the person I am today, and I am forever thankful for the opportunity to be a sister in this organization."

"My name is Maddie Scheil and on behalf of Zeta Tau Alpha, I would like to welcome you. We provide an amazing experience that provides opportunities for you to be a leader in the chapter, get involved in the community, and to grow as a person here at the University of Evansville. Throughout the year, we put on many events to raise money for our philanthropy, Breast Cancer Education and Awareness, and to give back to the community. In Zeta Tau Alpha, I truly found a group of young women I can call my sisters. Greek life has offered me more than I have ever dreamed of, and I hope it does the same for you! History and Tradition

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council is the governing body of fraternities. It consists of two members from each fraternity and each fraternity president. The executive board is made of five elected members from the fraternities. The IFC maintains self-governance over the fraternities and plans and supports recruitment, Greek Week, publicity, and interfraternal programming. The purpose of the Interfraternity Council is to create positive interaction among member fraternities, the campus, and the community, and to regulate standards as defined by the University of Evansville and the national and international fraternity members.

Brotherhood

Brotherhood is the bonding of men of various backgrounds, beliefs, places, and eras around a singular set of life-directing commitments. There are oaths, obligations, and peer accountability. A connection born on the day we spoke the oaths that made us fraternity men together.

"Greek Life at UE is unique because of how tightly knit the community and the individual chapters are within it. It is really special to be so closely involved in not only your own growth as a person but also your brothers as well. Greek Life allows you to build character not only through the people you meet, but also through philanthropy, service, and other involvement."

"My Greek life experience at UE over the past three years has been very rewarding and memorable. I had not considered joining a fraternity going into my freshman year, but I quickly found out that fraternities at UE were different than the stereotypes. It has allowed me to meet new people, get more active on campus, and serve the Evansville community in several different ways. I value the Phi Gamma Delta chapter because it has helped me form lifelong friendships, strive for excellence academically, and become a more well-rounded person. I have grown tremendously over the past few years in several aspects of my life, and I believe Phi Gamma Delta has had a big part in that. The Greek life experience on campus gives students a chance to get more involved and be a part of the close-knit community at UE. The past few years at UE would not have been the same without the Greek community, and I would encourage all freshmen to consider becoming a part of it."

"The men of Phi Kappa Tau take pride in our integrity, brotherhood, and service back to the campus and larger community. Phi Tau is not just a group of men that are a part of a fraternity; we are a group of special brothers that strive to perform our absolute best through our interactions we encounter every day. My experience in Phi Tau has brought me closer to a group of men I am proud to call my brothers and close friends who guide me to become a better man every day. Through the fraternity, experiences and positions that I never thought I would be a part of became a reality for me. I will be forever appreciative for the opportunities, friendships, and morals that Phi Tau brought into mine and thousands of other men's lives."

When arriving on the UE campus, Greek Life was never really on my radar. However, once I started interacting people in different organizations, I knew that it was something I wanted to participate in while in college. After joining Phi Tau, I believe it has truly enriched my college experience and will continue long after I graduate. So far, I have learned and taken apart of anything from leadership opportunities, growing as a man, and becoming a more sociable and outgoing student. I have been able to meet amazing people and participate in a variety of campus activities for great causes. I will always recommend going Greek and exploring how much you can grow as a person all while doing things you never thought you would do, with people you never thought you would meet.

"Starting college, I was nervous to start this new chapter of my life like most people are. That is, until I was befriended by some amazing guys in SigEp that made the transition to college life a lot easier. Little did I know then that these SigEps would soon become my brothers for life. Like most students, joining Greek Life wasn't on my radar at all when I first arrived on campus. However, the chance to be a part of a brotherhood and surrounded by those who will support and motivate me was something I couldn't pass up. SigEp has provided me with the opportunity to become a leader and grow as a person. I have also built great friendships with people that I probably wouldn't have otherwise. SigEp offers a truly unique and valuable college experience to prepare our brothers for life after college that normal students miss out on. I suggest that anyone who is interested in building friendships for life and becoming a more well-rounded person to consider joining Greek Life."

"As an international student, I didn't even acknowledge Greek Life was a thing before getting to UE. Looking back at my freshman year, I can say that joining a fraternity made my transition to college easier. I can't stress enough how lucky I am to call the group of guys in the picture brothers. Additionally, fraternities and sororities provide you with incredible opportunities in every aspect you could hope for. I have been able to attend national leadership conferences and even earned scholarships that enabled me to study abroad. SigEp pushes me to be a better person and has given me opportunities that I will forever be thankful for. Frequently Asked Questions

Am I obligated to join after I go through formal recruitment?

No, this is a time for you to decide if you would like to join a sorority or fraternity. Many women and men choose to go through formal recruitment to meet people and make new friends. This is an opportunity for you to visit the sororities or fraternities, get a glimpse of Greek Life, and decide whether the UE Greek community is right for you.

How do I decide which group I prefer?

As a potential member, you will have a different experience in each group depending on whom you meet and your personal preferences and personality. A sorority or fraternity should be a second home, a place where you feel totally comfortable and welcome. Your experiences at each recruitment event, your personal interests, and your goals should guide you to the group that is right for you.

What if I choose not to go through recruitment as a freshman?

It's never too late to give Greek Life a try. All fraternities have open recruitment following Bid Night and Fraternity Passover, and a few sororities also offer recruitment at another point during the year. Additionally, if you decide to give Greek Life a try after your freshman year, you aren't alone! Many upper class students participate in formal recruitment each year.

Can I still be involved in other campus activities while I am Greek?

Yes! Greek Life boasts students from all walks of campus life: athletes, writers, producers, actors, resident assistants, and more. Many students are involved in numerous campus organizations. Many students also hold an on- or off-campus job during the school year.
