LEADERSHIP COACHING BOOTCAMP

(non-degree seeking)

Leadership coaching is an effective approach to develop employees through customized development plans, setting expectations, providing regular feedback, and having one on one conversations. The goal of this program is to apply a coaching approach to leadership that will build up the capacity of managers and supervisors to improve the performance of their direct reports.

SESSION 1:
- Introduction to leadership theory
- Characteristics of effective leaders
- What is coaching? What is not coaching?

SESSION 2:
- Introduction to behavioral change
- How leaders can help change behaviors

SESSION 3:
- Applying effective leadership and behavioral change to coaching
- Framework for leadership coaching

SESSION 4:
- Application of leadership coaching
- Providing effective feedback
- Tools for leadership coaching

FOUR SESSIONS (in person)

September 10 – 9:00 a.m.-noon
October 1 – 9:00 a.m.-noon
October 22 – 9:00 a.m.-noon
November 12 – 9:00 a.m.-noon

COST: $395

REGISTER:
evansville.edu/professional-development

UE University of Evansville

INSTRUCTOR:
Tad Dickel, PhD

Timothy A. (Tad) Dickel is an adjunct instructor in the Master of Science in Leadership program at the University of Evansville and the president of T.A. Dickel Group, LLC. He is a leadership, strategy, and creativity consultant who works with a wide variety of businesses, universities, nonprofits, government entities, schools, and churches. He holds a PhD in educational leadership from Indiana State University and is a certified Basadur Simplexity Thinking facilitator and trainer and a certified MeyersBriggs Type Indicator (MBTI®) practitioner. In 2019, Tad was named to the Evansville Courier & Press's "20 Under 40" cohort for his professional accomplishments and service to the community.

Special guest speakers will include:

Bob Jones - Retired Chairman and CEO, Old National Bank

Kevin Koch - President and CEO, Koch Enterprises

Andy Niemeier - Co-CEO, Azzip Pizza

Starla West - Founder & President, Starla West International