The University of Evansville has a rich tradition of academic excellence and has been recognized across the nation and globe.

In addition to our commitment of strong academics, we embrace our responsibility to help make our communities a better place. College is much more than a degree – college will prepare you for an ever-changing world by bringing academics to life through real world internships and expanded hands-on learning experiences inside and outside the classroom.

Last year, we introduced New Residence Hall, along with several captivating enhancements to our campus infrastructure. One notable addition you will see in your time here is the building of the Lincoln Commons complex located at the intersection of Weinbach and Lincoln. Over the upcoming years, you can expect further advancements in these upgrades, and we are thrilled to offer this exceptional addition to our campus environment.

While you are at UE, the Student Handbook is a very important resource for you and provides our expectations of all members of our community, including the Academic Honor Code and the Student Code of Conduct. You will also find information about University services and many other things that will be very helpful to you as you begin your pathway to success.

Make the most of your time at UE as it will pass by quickly. Seize every opportunity and take full advantage of everything we have in store for you. Our mission is to empower you to think critically, act bravely, serve responsibility, and live meaningfully in a changing world, and I look forward to taking this journey with you. Welcome to UE – and wear Purple!

With my best,

Christopher M. Pietruszkiewicz

The 2023-2024 Student Handbook is an important reference tool. It contains valuable information about the University, including policies, procedures, resources, and important dates. This handbook is intended for both new and returning students. It has information that will help you navigate many of the day-to-day operations and procedures of the university.

This is a very special time in your life. It is my hope that you will find this year full of life-changing experiences, both in and out of the classroom. I encourage you to learn more about your peers but also our faculty and staff who have dedicated their careers to educating generations of students. Our entire campus community will work together to prepare you to live a meaningful life in a changing world.

In kindness,

Rachel S. Carpenter, DPS
Dean of Students
Aces,

On behalf of the Student Government Association, I would like to welcome you (or welcome you back) to the University of Evansville. I am Benton Simpson, and I will be your SGA President for the 2023-2024 academic year. This handbook will be a great resource as you begin your academic journey, so I implore you to have a general knowledge of its contents and refer back to it when you have questions about your rights and responsibilities at UE.

The SGA plays several very significant roles in the student experience at UE. First and foremost, we are here to be your voice as a member of the Student Association in all University matters. I, as president, and the several members of the SGA Executive Board were elected or appointed by your fellow members of the Student Association to represent you to the University administration, as well as act as your guide on official procedures and processes of the University. That being said, feel free to contact me or any other member of the Executive Board if you have any questions, concerns, or comments.

Furthermore, the SGA is here to govern and budget the Student Activities Fee and oversee the organizations that it funds. These organizations are a great way to get involved on campus. I highly recommend attending the organization fair that will be hosted at the beginning of the Fall semester to discover what opportunities the University of Evansville has to offer!

As you begin (or continue) your collegiate journey, I encourage you to be as involved as possible. This University has so much to offer, but your time here is limited. It may not feel like it now, but before too long, tomorrow will be graduation, and yesterday will be the days you spent at UE, so don’t take your time here for granted!

Once again, if you have any questions, do not be afraid to reach out to myself or any of the other members of the SGA Executive Board. Good luck on this journey, I can’t wait to see what you will achieve.

Best,

Benton A. Simpson

Mission and Core Values

Mission Statement
To empower each student to think critically, act bravely, serve responsibly, and live meaningfully in a changing world.

Core Values

Integrity
We promote academic and personal integrity to establish a culture of trust. Academic integrity begins with all students pledging to abide by our honor code, and extends to faculty, staff and administration adhering to our code of conduct. It culminates in an expectation of professionalism, transparency, and respect in all interactions. Personal integrity includes practicing informed, ethical decision-making, and respecting the ideas, rights, boundaries, and beliefs of others. Each member of our community is accountable and prepared to act as a responsible citizen of the world.

Innovation
We recognize the value of interdisciplinary teamwork, creative problem solving, global immersion, and learning experiences at home and abroad. We recognize the value of learning from failure. We have the freedom, flexibility, and motivation to create experiences that help our students think critically and act bravely. Each member of our community is challenged to discover novel solutions to modern problems and to become a catalyst for progress.

Intellectual Curiosity
We strive to develop lifelong learners. We introduce students to a variety of ideas that sharpen existing interests and awaken latent ones. We challenge students to stretch their minds, while supporting them with strong faculty engagement. Research, experiential learning, and community outreach foster intellectual curiosity while exposure to new ideas and technologies broadens our students’ view of the world and what might be possible.

Inclusive Community
We value openness and collaboration and recognize that inclusion leads to personal growth. Our commitment to actively fostering a diverse range of cultures and perspectives reflects the characteristics required to thrive in an increasingly global society. The university demonstrates and benefits from inclusion by welcoming all.

Education for the Whole Person
We cultivate intellectual, moral, social, physical, emotional, and spiritual wellness through engagement and discovery. We value the liberal arts, sciences, and professional programs as paths to intellectual and personal growth, and we encourage the integration of knowledge across disciplinary lines. We promote engagement in organizations, programs, and the community as essential to personal development. We equip individuals to examine their world, articulate their values, and develop the character needed to live healthy lives of meaning and purpose.

Vision Statement
The University of Evansville – a leading private university in the Midwest – is recognized nationally for developing students’ personal and professional competencies, cultivating critical and creative thinkers, and producing ethical, global citizens equipped to thrive in a world of complexity and change. We accomplish this by attracting and retaining talented and motivated students who succeed within a diverse, supportive, and sustainable environment.
Profile of the University of Evansville

The University’s history began as the dream of one man – John C. Moore – a resident of Moores Hill, Indiana (a small-town west of Cincinnati). Moore was the original #UEChangemaker. He wanted a college for his community, and he made it a reality on February 10, 1854, when the original charter for Moores Hill Male and Female Collegiate Institute was drafted. The college was the fifth co-educational college in the United States. Classes began September 9, 1856.

The college’s name was officially changed to Moores Hill College on September 20, 1887. In 1917 George Clifford, a prominent Evansville businessman who later became a University trustee, convinced the Indiana Conference of the Methodist Church that Moores Hill College should be moved to Evansville since it was the only city in Indiana without an accredited college within a 50-mile radius.

Residents of the city raised $500,000 in one week in 1917 to move the college to Evansville. It reopened in 1919 as Evansville College, and in 1967 the college was renamed and incorporated by the Indiana legislature as the University of Evansville.

Today, the University is a private, United Methodist Church-related, comprehensive university with a mission to empower each student to think critically, act bravely, serve responsibly, and live meaningfully in a changing world.

UE is ranked as a top Midwest university by U.S. News & World Report with approximately 2000 students from 46 states and 48 countries. More than 75 undergraduate areas of study are offered in the William L. Ridgway College of Arts and Sciences, Schroeder Family School of Business Administration, College of Education and Health Sciences, and the College of Engineering and Computer Science. The University also offers seven master’s degree programs (health services administration, innovative leadership in heritage management, public service administration, public health, leadership, physician assistant science, and athletic training) and a doctoral degree program (physical therapy).

UE also ranks as one of the top master’s degree granting institutions for the percentage of undergraduate students who study abroad. UE operates our own study abroad program at Harlaxton College in Grantham, England.

What is behind the name of the buildings you use each day?
