As UE parents, we are always eager for the start of a new school year and the excitement of life with UE. Each year has been better than the last as we watch our son, Richy, grow in so many positive ways. We are looking forward to this year even more than usual because Richy is now a senior, and we have the opportunity to serve as co-chairs of the UE Parents Council.

The UE community is truly a special place. As parents we know firsthand the personal and professional benefits that accrue from such a warm and inclusive learning environment. We urge you to take full advantage of that openness and engage with us in Parents Council and other UE activities. Whether in Evansville or at a distance (like us), there are many ways to get involved.

One excellent chance coming up soon is Family Weekend, September 26 - 28. A full range of events allows you to gain a genuine sense of UE’s vitality and community. The Parents Social is a highlight and features the now famous candy bar (a buffet of purple sweets). Attending the social is a great way to meet new friends and connect with other UE parents from across the country. It is also an opportunity to socialize with members of the Parents Council and President Tom and Sharon Kazee.

Lastly, we would encourage you to stay connected via our UE Parents Facebook page. The page is a great way to communicate with other parents, get advice, and stay up-to-date on the latest happenings on the UE campus and abroad!

We would be happy to answer any questions you may have. We can be reached at mbludwick@aol.com or ludwickrichard@aol.com. You may also contact Angela Williams, assistant director for alumni and parent relations: aw162@evansville.edu.

The Minnette Family
How has UE made an impact on your family?

The year was 1983, and I was holding a diploma from the University of Evansville. I was ready to tackle the world and spread my passion for shaping young minds. Few jobs were available in the town where I was born and raised, but I was determined to find employment in an Evansville school. My BA degree in elementary education wasn’t enough to turn heads, which is why I spent countless hours and summers during my four years at UE obtaining an endorsement in junior high/middle school science. I hand-delivered my résumé to every principal in the area and succeeded in getting one of the handful of jobs available in EVSc. The diversity my degree brought to the classroom, a strong music background, and numerous awards from the University of Evansville were instrumental in paving the road to a successful career. It was an honor winning the 1927 Golden Anniversary Award in 1983. Having the respect from my UE professors and their acknowledgment of my hard work in and out of the classroom helped me become the educator that I am today. Thirty-one years later, after teaching 17 years at Plaza Park (third grade), Plaza Park Middle School (grades 6-8), and 14 years at Scott Elementary (grades 4-6), I stress to my students the importance of respect, the only rule in my classroom! It is so important to get respect from others. As retirement gets closer, I reflect on my career and try to remember all the emotions that go along with post graduation and starting a career.

My daughter, Samantha DPT ’14, graduated this spring from the University of Evansville with a Doctor of Physical Therapy degree. I feel as though I’m looking in a mirror. Her passion and determination for helping people looks so familiar. The past three years have been demanding, challenging, and rewarding. She has had excellent instructors that have been a guiding influence in her endeavors. When Samantha informed me that she was awarded the 1927 Golden Anniversary Award this spring, I told her to look in our den where my award is proudly displayed. She too earned that respect from her professors and is now ready to tackle the world and start a rewarding career.

The Keller Family
Why did you chose UE?

Mike Keller ’83

I was born and raised in Evansville, so I was very familiar with the University of Evansville. I chose to attend UE partly because I liked the school’s size, which offered a great professor-to-student ratio. The school also offered many of the programs of study I was interested in, and to top it off, my mom was employed as the dean of student affairs at the time.

While attending UE, I joined Lambda Chi Alpha and was a member of the men’s swim team for two years. Both of these organizations provided me with wonderful experiences that helped to shape my college life. I also had the opportunity to spend a semester at Harlaxton. It was probably my most memorable experience as it exposed me to life outside of the United States and allowed me to study with students from all over the world.

The connections I made at the University of Evansville provided me with many lifelong friendships. I met my wife, Julie, at UE as well as one of my future employers. Julie chose the University of Evansville because she wanted to study human resources and she also liked the size of the school. Both of us were employed at the time of graduation.

Matthew Keller

Matthew was looking for a small school in the Midwest that focuses on academic excellence and where he could become an involved member of the campus. A big part of what made the University of Evansville attractive was UE’s British campus, Harlaxton College in Grantham, England. Harlaxton provides a once-in-a-lifetime study abroad opportunity that Matthew is looking forward to participating in. The University of Evansville’s Division I soccer program was also a big draw. Matthew has played soccer most of his life and was recruited to play for the team. The Schroeder School of Business’s academic reputation fit well with Matthew’s desire to pursue a degree in business. All these elements made the University of Evansville the clear cut favorite in Matthew’s college decision.

Beyond Expectations!

Ashley’s Story

The University of Evansville Student-Alumni Mentoring Program has been proven to nurture remarkable career and personal relationships between active students and the alumni mentors. In 2012 I was connected with my mentor, Ed Brown. Since Ed lived in Des Moines, Iowa, I expected our relationship to remain as a distant connection. I was initially struck with both nerves and excitement during our first phone meeting, but after that conversation I could sense that Ed had a sincere interest in my career, education, and personal development. I felt the UE connection right off the bat!

Despite our long-distance mentoring connection, we were fortunate to meet for lunch during Homecoming Week 2012. Ed provided me with guidance on my future career action steps as well as interviewing tips for an internship at St. Mary’s Human Resources. I am happy to say that I landed the internship, which later led to my current position on the St. Mary’s Human Resources team!

While our connection had many moments of great value, my most memorable portion will remain my internship experience at the Iowa Clinic. I was able to travel to Des Moines, Iowa, and spend two weeks of my summer interviewing nearly all members of the clinic’s executive and leadership team, attending numerous business development meetings, exploring various departments and outreach facilities of the unique organization, as well as engaging in a lean process improvement project and present my findings to physician group leadership.

I gained more from my experience in Iowa than just interview and meeting notes and process improvement experience. I found confidence in my potential as a professional and a renewed aspiration to strive for the potential that not only I saw in myself but that those members of leadership saw in me in just those two short weeks.

One quote that the CFO of the Iowa Clinic shared during our time together has remained with me as a source of guidance as I continue in my campus involvement and career development. “There is no limit to what a man can do or where he can go if he doesn’t mind who gets the credit.” – Ronald Regan

The UE Student-Alumni Mentoring Program has allowed me to see how important the professional network and support system can be. I look forward to my opportunity to pay it forward to future UE students.

With the inception of the Student-Alumni Mentoring Program in 2004, supported by a Lilly Endowment Initiative, the Center for Career Development and the Office of Alumni and Parent Relations matched 13 mentor/mentees; today we have increased that number to more than 60 matches for the 2013-14 program. The mentoring program establishes professional relationships that can span a lifetime. Our success stories are about meaningful connections that have provided direction and opportunities for our career-focused students.

Ashley Shoultz and Ed Brown 2012-13
